DETAILED ACTION

This Office action responds to the election filed on 10/18/2006.

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election with traverse of the invention of group-I, reading on claims 1-22, 56-65, and 70-79, is acknowledged. Claims 23-55 and 66-69 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim.
2. The traversal is on the ground that examining all groups of inventions would not pose a serious burden on the examiner. This is not found persuasive. In the restriction requirement, the examiner set forth that the application contained three different groups of inventions. Each of the groups includes mutually exclusive characteristics that distinguish it from the others. That is, the unpatentability of one of the groups would not necessarily imply the unpatentability of the other groups.
3. Besides stating that searching all three groups would not be a serious burden on the examiner, the applicants have failed to advance any reasons contesting the rationale for the restriction requirements between the three groups. As set forth by the examiner in the restriction requirement mailed on 9/19/2006, each of the groups belongs to a different subject of inventive effort. Searching all three groups will require separately searching for each of their mutually exclusive characteristics; thus, creating a serious burden on the examiner.

4. For all of the above reasons, the requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore, made FINAL.

5. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species:

- Species 1, reading on figure 1A
- Species 2, reading on figure 1B
- Species 3, reading on figure 1C
- Species 4, reading on figure 1D
- Species 5, reading on figure 1E
- Species 6, reading on figure 1F

6. The species are independent or distinct because they are not obvious variants of each other. Each of the species has a set of particular characteristics, as evinced in the figures on which they read, that makes each of the species patentably distinct one from the other.

7. Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, there is no apparent generic claim.

8. Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

9. Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of an allowable generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

10. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

11. The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

12. Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103 (a) of the other invention.
